Gujjars in Jammu & Kashmir, India

You may not have heard of the Gujjar people, but you are probably familiar with their tribal origin: the Huns. As in, Attila the Hun. Like their famous predecessors, they continue to practice a nomadic lifestyle, relocating in summer and winter to find grazing for their animals. In their constant striving to survive, the Gujjar haven't had a fair opportunity to hear, understand, and accept His invitation to relationship.

Ministry Obstacles

Nomadism poses a true challenge to those seeking to share the gospel with the Gujjar. In addition to their impermanent camps and seasonal roaming habits, most are Sunni Muslims. Pray for the Lord to begin speaking to the Gujjar, softening their hearts and preparing them to receive His Word.

Outreach Ideas

Global Recordings offers portable materials that they can listen to as they move their livestock.

Pray for the Entire Group

Pray for the Holy Spirit to shine like a brilliant sun among Gujjar believers, leading others to seek Him.
