Gangadi Brahmins in India

Daily worship and chanting of sacred texts are an integral part of many Brahmins' lives, even if this is only a token routine for many. Most Brahmin families much prefer their sons and daughters to take advantage of their educational opportunities and earn a good living as computer engineers, doctors, or business managers.

Ministry Obstacles

One can never predict what an individual Brahmin might believe or disbelieve. One who would reach them with the gospel must be ready to deal with any mindset. Different Brahmins have very different spiritual beliefs.

Outreach Ideas

Their main needs involve relational strains that are usually kept behind closed doors. Loving believers can earn the trust of Gangadi Brahmin families and help them weather these heart-level problems that few are willing to address. In doing so, they can show them how Christ offers hope and guidance. Most Gangadi Brahmins speak English because higher education in India is mostly in the English medium. This situation increases outreach opportunities in audio, visual, and written Bible resources.
